

Dr. Omar Miranda-Novales
Social psychologist and body oriented psychotherapist.

I was born and raised in the Mayan Nahual Tradition. In 1990 I left my homeland Mexico to pursue an academic career in Europe. Along my path I studied Clinical Psychology, Social Psychology, Body Oriented Psychotherapy.

In my work I integrate the academic and old traditional knowledge of the Mayan people, with Dance, Theater and performing Arts. My academic interests and curiosity for other cultures led me to study and work in countries such as USA, Russia, Spain, Italy and Germany.

In 2015 I created the therapeutic methods of dynamic integration.

The Mayan tradition offers a unique approach based on the ethnomethodology of the Mexican healing techniques which I learned since my childhood.

Currently I am conducting experiential workshops and training courses throughout Europe.

2020 Blooming cycles of renewal

The realm of nature and human beings are alike. The consciousness of nature mirrors the human consciousness and the other way around. Both produce a common system which creates a “temporal destiny”, because nature and the individual are made out of time.

This is the perspective of the Mexican Nahual Traditions (such as the Maya and Aztec). These cultures conceived the origins of human kind as a temporal event. They think that an essential component of the human Self is made out of time. Time itself flows in the veins of every person.

Time is considered as a living entity with its own consciousness. Time influences the cycles of nature and our different phases of life. We are part of a unique mechanism of cycles-, where Nature-Cosmos and Mankind tick in the same rhythm.

The next cycle of life according to the Nahual cosmogony starts on March 2020. This cycle represents the blooming of the Self, the deep understanding of the unconscious, the renewal of the individual, the wholeness, beauty, love and creativity.

If we develop our awareness of our cycles of life thorough time, we will enhance the ability to shape our life in the way we want to. We will be ready to let go and transform our fears in order to take our life in ones hands.

In the blooming cycles of renewal intensive workshop in Mexico participants will experience the non linearity of their being. They will also venture themselves in healing time processes according to their own particular necessities in a perspective of self growth, expansion and renewal of their Self.

During the 2020 journey you will be able to:

- explore your existential time
- experience the healing of your own time
- develop your own design of life using practical strategies for your every day life.

Some of the activities, which will take place in Mexico are:

- > Mexican cleansing and sweet lodge ritual.
- > Opening paths and hearths ritual in sacred ground.
